

THE BONDS WILL GO. OUR QUALIFIED FREEHOLDERS

Endorse the $175,000 Bond Issue by a Majority of 50.

LIGHT VOTE POLLED, OWING TO

Failure of Many to Qualify.—Total 78: For Bonds, 64; Against, 14.

If there was any excitement over the bond election on Tuesday it was so well suppressed as to remain unnoticeable to the many eyes. Nearly all the polling places inspectors sat around in a lonesome sort of way all day and lost all that was coming to them for the service by wear and tear in the subsequent section of their trousers.

Very many freeholders failed to qualify and they would not vote. Many others were ladies, and ladies don't go to the polls in this ballcock. Susie Anthony has never been here to fire them with a desire for the franchise. If she had she probably would have gotten a cold society stare.

Palatka has a population of 4,000; there is a large black contingent who hate to give up a dollar for the privilege of voting. Many city property owners live on the Heights and other suburban retreats and they of course could not vote. The result shows that there was no attempt at ballot stuffing.

It was learned that there were but 95 electors who measured up to all the requirements for franchise. Seventy-eight of these got out and expressed themselves.

From observations made by the News it seems fair to state that the vote as recorded on Tuesday would have been in about the same proportion had all the 95 votes been cast. The result can therefore be taken as a pretty accurate expression of the sentiment of the entire qualified freeholding population—the men who will bear the brunt of the burden.

There seems to be no question but that something should be done for Palatka. When a free dog with scabs gets troublesome in a neighborhood, the forward movement by attaching a tin can to his tail. This city can scarcely be called a free dog but it certainly has some scabs, or other infallible ear marks of disease which need a toning up. It is to be hoped the result of Tuesday's election will prove the tin can application for the beginning of a forward movement for the municipality.

Good men of course have been divided on the now settled question. They gathered in knots on the street corners Wednesday and recapitulated; others were warm in the vicinity of the collar. Generally, however, like sensible good men, those who favored the measure and those who opposed it, will flow together. Their differences have largely been over method and amount, but one method and one amount must be adopted with regard to all that there is of good in that method should be squeezed out.

Here is what some of our leading citizens have to say for the result:

Judge Vertrees.—I think it is a thing the town will regret more than anything we have done in our lives. I am in favor of sewerage, I am not in favor of appropriating half enough money to do the work, and this law does not give us more than half enough to do the work properly.

I. M. Meyer.—I am very much pleased with the result.

C. Carman, Jr.—It's the best thing that ever happened to the place.

Thos. H. Keating.—I think it is one of the best things we ever did.

Frank J. Fearnside.—It is the best thing Palatka ever did. The city has redeemed itself.

Tom Holden.—I have only been a resident of the city proper about two months and could not vote, though I am a property holder; but I am satisfied. I am willing to pay my share.

Martin Griffin.—I think it will temporarily do the trick. I believe the bond trustees are good men and will see that the money is properly expended. It will be a hardship on the tax payers for a time, but in the end it will result in good.

Rev. N. J. Tilghman.—Economy is admirable, but it is not always good. The debt will be something of a burden but it will be worth all it costs. It seems strange that a man owning $15,000 or $20,000 worth of taxable property should not be able to vote, but our property is all in the firm name.

Dr. Geo. E. Welch.—So far as I am concerned I am well pleased with the result. It will make times prosperous for a while, if not permanent.

C. E. Rowton.—I am satisfied.

County Commissioners.

The regular monthly meeting of the board of county commissioners was held at the court house on Tuesday. President, Willard occupied the chair and a full board was present.

The pauper list was gone over and warrants ordered drawn on the treasurer for the amount of individual stipends. Bills were also all ordered paid.

Tax assessor Bullard appeared before the board with the governor's circular letter of instructions regarding the future assessment of real and personal property. This circular is published on our first page. Mr. Bullard wanted to know what the commissioners thought about it. The matter was discussed some, and the board informed the assessor that there was nothing for him to do but follow the governor's instructions.

The chairman of the board was authorized to have the governor's letter to the tax-assessor published so that tax-payers will not put the blame of any increased assessment of their property upon the shoulders of the assessor, who has sins enough of his own to tote, without loading up with those which belong solely to the governor.

Mr. Bullard will now simply be obliged to make a general assessment upon the terms laid down in the law as interpreted at Tallahassee.

A Big Business.

"We feel quite well satisfied with our 1901 business," said Mr. I. M. Meyer, the clothing and shoe merchant to the News. "Our sales for the year were over $300,000, and sales to that amount by one retail establishment indicate that there is some life in the business of Palatka yet."

The School Board.

The county school board met in regular monthly session on Tuesday and read and acted upon the reports of teachers. Nothing of a nature calculated to disturb the serenity of the meeting came up.

"Other People's Money."

Hennessey Leroy's comedy production of this nature was given to a large sized audience in Fry's opera house Tuesday evening. The company is a most excellent one, and all who saw them enjoyed their evening. Hennessey didn't take any of the "other people's money" from this town. What he got is all his and he's welcome to it. Indeed there's more here for him if he'll come again.

Handsome Gifts.

Mr. A. E. Wilson, president of the Putnam National Bank and head of the Wilson Cypress company made his usual Christmas gift of $50 to the Palatka Public Library, a little matter, perhaps, for Mr. Wilson, but of great benefit to the library. But this was not the total of Mr. Wilson's Christmas benefactions of a public nature. It has just leaked out that he sent a check for $50 to each of the white churches in the city, and a check of $25 to each of the colored churches. This bit of news is a little late in reaching the people but it is not the fault of this paper.

Seriously Wounded.

A. J. Dent, a fast black, was shot and seriously wounded at the Union depot on Tuesday afternoon, by C. F. Nettles a young white man. Nettles was taking some recently employed negroes to a turpentine camp when Dent stopped up and tried to influence the men to leave him. Nettles had brought the men from South Carolina, and had defrayed their expense of transportation. He asked Dent not to molest his men, and the negro became abusive, then angry. His language was so violent that Nettles got nettled and struck him. The negro then clinched with Nettles and was using him roughly when the white man drew a revolver and shot his assailant. Officer Sullivan arrived on the scene and arrested Nettles.

The Bond Burglary.

The store of the S. E. Bond Co. has been the scene of some active chieving operations. A young fast black named Joe Sampson, who formerly acted as porter in the store, had a key made, and for two months or more has been entering and taking small quantities of goods. His last haul was larger—an armful of silks. The last was noted by Mr. Courie, the manager, and he has been worried. The goods were finally traced to Sampson's boarding house, and about $300 of the stolen property recovered. But the thief got wind of the fact that Chief Hagan was after him, and he skipped. It is not yet known what the full loss will be, and it is doubtful if Mr. Courie has the means of finding out.

Twelfth Night Party.

The hospitable home of Judge and Mrs. F. H. Burt, on Palatka Heights, was the scene of a very pleasant affair Monday evening, termed a Twelfth Night Party. Many young folks from the city were invited, and under the chaperonage of Mrs. Geo. E. Welch, left here at 8:30 o'clock in commodious conveyances for the scene of festivities. They were joined at the house by a merry assemblage of young people who had already gathered, and soon all were enjoying themselves to the fullest extent.

The evening was spent very pleasantly with pastimes of various kinds. The conundrum contest was one of the most interesting features and afforded much amusement. The first prize was awarded to Miss Celeste McGregor, of Palatka Heights, and Jesse D. Buky, they being the highest guessers.

Refreshments were served abundantly, and needless to say, were greatly enjoyed.

Those present were: Misses Alda and Leone Ennis, Celeste McGregor, Carrie Green, Kate and Edna Kirby, Flora and Katie Burt; Messdames Geo. E. Welch and F. H. Burt.

McVey, J. D. Buky, Con. B. Marvin, Horace M. Weller, Cornelius Carman, Jr., R. M. Burt and J. L. Burt.

The evening's pleasures were closed by burning large bonfires and tipping the light flags, after which the party broke their host and hostess good night and departed for home.

"Fragments from Flowerland."

A neat little volume of poems with the above title has just been issued from the press of the Palatka News. The authors are Miss Alice Whitman, a graduate of the Northfield (Mass.) Seminary, and at present a primary teacher in the Crescent City school. Miss Whitman has dedicated her little book to Mrs. George E. Welch, "whose kind encouragement," as she says, "has helped to bring it into existence."

The editor of the News is not an authority on poetry, but he enjoys reading it, perhaps, better than the average man. A good poem, one that has reason as well as rhythm, one that does not neglect his intellect, one that has a note, has a soothing effect, and that is a good deal to say for a man whose early education in the poetical line was warped by having to read Hiawatha before he was old enough to sprout whiskers.

A great many people who write poetry have wisdom in their heads, and all of them are more or less given to seeing things. The cogs in Miss Whitman's head—if she has any—do not show themselves in her poetry; and if she sees things they are mostly just such things as the rest of us see every day but fail to notice unless some one calls our attention to them. Miss Whitman does this and does it nicely.

She has a pretty vivid imagination. She couldn't be a poet if she hadn't. But she never allows it to reach out like the Bedouin lover who measured the life of his passion by a pole which reached out to the time.

"When the sun grows cold And the stars grow old And the leaves of the judgment book unfold."

The News believes that any man or woman who has music in their soul will get their music's worth several times over by going to their bookseller and plunking down 50 cents for a copy of "Fragments from Flowerland."

As the title implies, many of these "fragments" had their origin in Florida, whose woodlands and rivers and sunny skies and bright hued birds of song should develop more genuine poetry to the square than any land the sun shines on.

Thinks it a Relic.

Mr. Parker the shad fisher at Rolleston, while dredging the other day near the old Darby wharf came upon a heavy substance, which, when lifted proved to be an old anchor, and one that will weigh in the neighborhood of 1,000 pounds.

Mr. Parker thinks this anchor is one that was lost by a Yankee gunboat in 1862, the same boat which was afterwards captured by the Confederates near the head of Dunn's lake. Of course he isn't cook sure about this, but is willing to let it go at that. He says the Spanish Armada didn't touch at Darby's dock and that it would be unfair to make any claim to its being a relic of that fleet. Old settlers in the neighborhood who remember the Yankee boat tell him that it did cast an anchor, and assure him that the chances all favor his claims.

Mr. Parker will have the anchor scrapped and put in a proper condition to receive visitors—if he has any.

City Happenings and Personal Mention.

The K. of P.'s will dance tonight. Rev. Dr. Fulwood will hold his last quarterly meeting next Sunday at St. James M. E. church.

Hon. John P. Wall was in town Saturday. He still talks dispensary but in a muffled sort of way.

Mr. W. S. Middleton, the big turpentine operator of Pomona, was a visitor in Palatka on Tuesday.

Mrs. H. S. Wilson entertained the Whist Club at the Saratoga hotel last evening.

It is reported that Mr. H. S. Wilson of the Wilson Cypress Co. has purchased the residence of Dr. Rosenberg.

Mr. A. K. Parker has been awarded a contract for the plumbing work at a Green Cove Springs hotel and he left on Wednesday morning for that place.

W. B. Tilghman, wife and daughter of Salisbury, Md., are in the city and are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. Q. Tilghman. They will be here for some time.

The association of turpentine operators who are adjacent to Palatka held their monthly meeting at the court house on Wednesday. Some dozen or more operators were present.

Mrs. Harp, wife of Hon. J. H. Harp, of Crescent City, came away on Wednesday. She had been in invalid for the past two years. Mrs. Harp was the mother of Mrs. R. F. Adams of this city.

Mr. L. K. Tucker, of Fruitland, passed through the city on Tuesday, stopping over to attend the meeting of the school board of which he is a member. He went to St. Augustine on the afternoon train.

A wild turkey weighing 14½ pounds was brought in from the wilds of San Mateo on Wednesday. It was a gobbler and was gobbled up by Robert James who is to serve the bird today for dinner at his restaurant.

A gang of 26 convicts passed through Palatka on Sunday en route to Titusville. They came in under strong guard from Ft. White, and were dumped aboard the steamer City of Jacksonville on its up trip.

Mr. B. B. Wells, a former citizen of the county, but who has made his home in south Florida the past three years, has finally determined that Putnam is good enough for him, and has moved back to his home at Satsuna. He was in Palatka Wednesday.

Perry Keener the Lemon street jeweler has moved into his new quarters—the store formerly occupied by Fearnside & Co. Mr. Keener has put in new and elegant fixtures, and the place, as it now stands, is a decided ornament to the street and town.

The city council met on Tuesday evening but did not canvass the Bond vote owing to the fact that the opera house had an attraction that would not keep, and they knew the bond election canvass would. So they called it a recess until Thursday evening.

The present week is being observed all over the country as the week of prayer. Evangelical churches in Palatka are holding union meetings. The meeting for tonight will be at the Methodist church. Friday it will be at the Presbyterian church and on Saturday evening at the Baptist.

Dr. Frank McRae, member of the legislature, was in town last week for his regular monthly visit. The doctor lives at Melbourne, and his town will have an election on the 21st inst. for the purpose of ratifying an act of incorporation. Two officers will be voted for at the same election, and should the vote decide, as it probably will, on incorporating, Dr. McRae will be its first mayor. He has been nominated by the citizens for the office, and is the only candidate.

FLORAHOME LETTER.

New Year's day was duly celebrated as a holiday throughout the colony, although it seems to be the custom among the southerners in this neighborhood to pay no attention to the observance of the day.

A ball game was scheduled for Jan. 1st, but when the forces assembled the married men failed to present enough candidates to make the original plans possible, so sides were taken and as much fun was gotten out of the score, 28 to 20, as was possible.

A. P. Roberts is building a blacksmith shop and will soon be ready for trade. Mr. Roberts brings a twenty years reputation of first-class ability, and the establishment of his shop fills a long felt want in the community.

A. Baldwin, who already has 65 acres of fruit and nut trees, is having the company prepare ground for 15 acres of pecans, pineapples, etc. A portion of the park just north of the railroad will be fenced in neatly for the purpose of enclosing a rose garden, roses for which are here, and are being carefully nurtured by different ladies in the colony.

Notice has been received from the Georgia Southern & Florida R. R., that the home-seeker's rate of one fare plus $2.00 for the round trip will be obtainable during January and February or first and third Tuesday.

A meeting of colonists was held on Monday night at which plans were decided upon for building a road between Grandin and Florahome. The route will be from Florahome west on the first forty-line south of the railroad, thence along the south bank of the Etowah lateral of the canal, and straight into Grandin. The work has commenced.

Gano & Jennings are installing a new planer at their sawmill, and will be ready to supply finishing materials soon. They have also ordered a new boiler. They are now shipping large quantities of hickory timber which they buy from the colonists at $3.50 per thousand.

WANTED.—Sewing by the day at regular prices. Satisfaction guaranteed. Apply Mrs. B. M. Lofee, at Mrs. S. E. Bond's.

LOST.—A bunch of keys. Finder can leave at this office and receive reward.
